

IDR
SOLUTIONS

Who are IDR solutions?

IDR solutions is a 20-year old family owned UK based business with over 200 business clients across the Globe, half of whom have been customers for over 10 years. Our clients include Abode (creators of the PDF file format) who licensed our PDF rendering technology for use in ColdFusion.

For the last 20 years we have developed a PDF technology stack and turned this into products to help our customers use and display PDF files in their own software products and website.

What problem do we solve?

The PDF file format is the world's most common document format (70% of the world's documents) but is not simple to display and integrate into modern web-based SaaS applications. Our BuildVu software converts PDF files into high quality HTML5 or SVG which can be easily used in SaaS applications or websites and does not require further access to original document or other software.

Software runs on a cloud or on-premise server and license is a yearly flat fee, starting at 3,000 USD based on hardware used.

Some examples of how our customers use our software.

- An online store converts magazines into SVG to display inside iPad app.
- A publishing company provides educational content through their subscription based portal.
- A startup providing an architecture design SaaS product, converts customers existing designs from PDF to SVG for import into their system.
- A fintech company allows users to upload and display financial documents.
- A Bank provides internal access to financial documents for all their staff.
- An ERP system converts all client documents so their can be displayed inside their web viewer.
- An online job portal displays CVs inside their browser based frontend.
- A plane manufacturer uses the software to display documentation and diagrams for their inhouse systems.

What are the advantages of our solution?

- allows customers to build their own tech stack/solution without having to solve this specific and difficult problem.
- is highly configurable and provides much better output (smaller, faster loading files) than free alternatives.
- One time conversion creates genuine, clean web content which can be used for search and display and cached for performance.
- is fully supported by a small and highly focussed team who have 20 years experience dealing with PDF files
- retains full control of the original PDF files and prevents user copying.